LINKAGE ANNOUNCES NEW VICE PRESIDENT, TALENT MANAGEMENT

Burlington, MA (November 28, 2011) – Linkage, a global leader development company, is pleased to announce its recent hire of Sarah Le Roy. She will serve as Vice President of Talent Management and will lead the Talent Management practice. Sarah joins Linkage following a diverse career in talent management and executive search—most recently in the high tech sector.

“We are fortunate to have identified Sarah as an individual with tremendous expertise in the critical and overarching area of talent. She will lead our growing Talent Management business and will work closely with our leadership team to recruit great talent to Linkage,” said Phil Harkins, Linkage’s CEO and Founder.

“I am delighted to be part of the Linkage team and look forward to growing our Talent Management business,” said Sarah Le Roy. “Linkage has an extraordinary team of experienced professionals who are leaders in the field of leadership and talent development.”

Previously, Sarah held leadership positions in both start-ups and established companies, such as Russell Reynolds Associates and Goldman Sachs, where she managed experienced hire recruitment across Europe, the Middle East and Africa. Additionally, Sarah has led engagements recruiting at the C-suite and board level globally, and brings extensive operational experience in talent management and talent acquisition.

Sarah holds a Bachelor of Arts degree in Religion and Literary Studies from Williams College, and a Master of Science (S.M.) from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology’s Sloan School of Management.
